PERSONAL PROFILE

Enthusiastic and passionate self-taught programmer with a deep interest in building visually enriched web experiences based on good programming practices and minimalism in code. Feel delighted when overcoming obstacles and finding a solution for some long-lasting problem. Self-disciplined, able to work in a team as well as independently. Hate leaving things unfinished, either it's a book, course, or a project. A lifelong student of personal development focused on learning new things and becoming better every day.

Actual goal: become an experienced Senior developer, utilize technical knowledge and contribute to multiple projects.
